

Licking Valley Courier

Subscription, $1.50 a year

Devoted to the Advancement of the Better Things for Morgan County and West Liberty

Always in Advance

VOLUME 25, NO. 15

WEST LIBERTY, MORGAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JUNE 6, 1935

WHOLE NUMBER 1387

A TAX PROGRAM

A lot of people are saying, "If you don't have a sales tax, where will we get the funds necessary to run our institutions?" This is a fair question and legislators are looking for ways to supply the answer. The Commonwealth, a journal of opinion printed at Lexington, gives the following suggestions:

1. A personal income tax.
2. A corporation tax.
3. A revised inheritance tax.
4. A revised selective sales tax on specified commodities and services (luxuries).
5. A reformation of the property tax with exemptions of homes and farms in and on which the owner actually resides to the extent of $1,000.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Rev. and Mrs. Harlan Murphy and grandson, Cleo, were among the guests present at an elaborate birthday dinner at the home of W. T. Ward, in the west end of the county, on Sunday.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Redford and family, Mrs. W. G. Ward, Mrs. Fay Ward, Little and son Dan, and Miss Tudor, all of Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Rose, a family of Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson, of Paducah; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ward and son Don, Frank Ward, Mr. W. H. Murphy, and Joe Ward, all of Lexington; Mrs. Zeddy T. Rose, of Lexington; Mrs. Irene T. Rose, of Lexington; Miss Mabel W. Rose, of Lexington; A. J. C. Rose, and the family, of Lexington; and the family, of Lexington.

Will Manage Campaign

To the people of Morgan county

I have accepted the position of campaign chairman in Morgan county for A. B. Hatcher, candidate for Governor. Mr. Hatcher was placed on his own merit in life. He worked 11 years then earned and 11 years more by selling the common people. He worked 11 years then earned and 11 years more by selling the common people. He worked 11 years then earned and 11 years more by selling the common people.

He worked 11 years then earned and 11 years more by selling the common people. He worked 11 years then earned and 11 years more by selling the common people. He worked 11 years then earned and 11 years more by selling the common people.

Local Daily

McKENZIE

NAME	AGE	SEX	RELATION
McKenzie	18	M	Son
McKenzie	16	F	Daughter
McKenzie	14	M	Son
McKenzie	12	F	Daughter
McKenzie	10	M	Son
McKenzie	8	F	Daughter
McKenzie	6	M	Son
McKenzie	4	F	Daughter
McKenzie	2	M	Son
McKenzie	1	F	Daughter

PIE SCATTER SUCCESS

The success of the pie scatter was a great one. The pie scatter was a great one. The pie scatter was a great one. The pie scatter was a great one. The pie scatter was a great one.

WHAT TO LEARN

What to learn is a question that is asked by many people. What to learn is a question that is asked by many people. What to learn is a question that is asked by many people. What to learn is a question that is asked by many people. What to learn is a question that is asked by many people.

LICKING RIVER

The Licking River is a beautiful river. The Licking River is a beautiful river. The Licking River is a beautiful river. The Licking River is a beautiful river. The Licking River is a beautiful river.

AGE OF THE STATE

The age of the state is a question that is asked by many people. The age of the state is a question that is asked by many people. The age of the state is a question that is asked by many people. The age of the state is a question that is asked by many people. The age of the state is a question that is asked by many people.

SEWING

Sewing is a beautiful art. Sewing is a beautiful art. Sewing is a beautiful art. Sewing is a beautiful art. Sewing is a beautiful art. Sewing is a beautiful art. Sewing is a beautiful art. Sewing is a beautiful art.

ADULT SCHOOL

The adult school is a place where people can learn. The adult school is a place where people can learn. The adult school is a place where people can learn. The adult school is a place where people can learn. The adult school is a place where people can learn.

FLAT WOODS

June 3—Mrs. James Wheeler was guest of Mrs. G. B. Fox on Sunday. Mrs. Sherman Robinson was the Saturday night and Sunday guest of Mrs. Mari Robinson at Gould Ridge. Mr. and Mrs. Ova Hatfield, who had been in school at Richmond, returned home Thursday night. Jesse Henry of Dayton and Elva Bartley of Ezel were guests of G. B. Fox and family on Saturday. Mrs. Jomah Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Olie Enloe attended Decoration here Thursday. Rev. James Wheeler attended church Sunday at Grassy Valley. Miss Mildred Engate returned on Wednesday from Morehead school. Lewis Delank of Dehart spent a few days here last week. J. B. May, C. C. May, and James Wheeler made a business trip to Morehead on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gibson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Henry on Thursday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Fox were the Thursday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Kemplin. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gibson and daughter Ella were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Hays, at Duer, Sunday. Mrs. William Wells of Licking River attended Decoration here Thursday. Tom Henry had business in West Liberty on Monday. F. N. C. L. ZIP

MALONE

June 3, Johnnie Walsh, who is working in Lexington, visited home folks over the week end. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nickell and children, of Lexington, visited Mrs. Nickell's father, L. S. Williams, a few days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hatfield and children, of Ashland, were week end guests of Mrs. Hatfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Lykins. Mrs. Boone Lykins and little son James Curtis were at Spaw Creek on Thursday. Hubert Hatfield of Stacy Fork was here Sunday. Mrs. John Nickell and children, of Stacy Fork, were the Sunday dinner guests of her mother, Nora Nickell and family. Stanley Steele of this place moved his family to Ohio one day last week. Mr. and Mrs. John Steele and son James and Ora Steele, of Ashland, visited last week their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Steele, here. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Haney of Wells moved recently to the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Steele. Mrs. Hanner Steele and son George Harold, of Ashland, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barker, a few days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Willis and Mrs. Pauline Huddle, of Columbus, Ohio, visited Mrs. Nora Nickell and Mr. and Mrs. Clay McGulre a few days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Parlie Frisby of Mild deltown, Ohio, were Thursday night guests of Mr. Frisby's sister, Mrs. Ezra Williams. Ed Nickell and Malcolm Holliday, who are stationed in the C. O. camp near Paducah, visited home folks over the week end. Mrs. Hester Vest and Mearl McGulre motored to Louisville on Saturday to bring back for a visit Mrs. Vest's children from the Masonic home. Miss Anita Castleberry of the Kentucky Children's home in Louisville was here Thursday. V. R. Nickell was called recently to the bedside of his brother, Jim Tom Nickell, who is in a hospital in Lexington. Success to the Courier crew. PAT AND MIKE

Morgan Quartet on Air

The Holiday's Jubilee Singers, consisting of Harrison Holliday, Bradley Haddwin, Mildred Matthews, and J. C. Hamilton, will be on the air for the Sandy Valley Grocery company on radio station WSAZ, Huntington, W. Va., at 12:30 central standard time on Saturday, June 8. We hope Courier readers will be listening in, as a song will be dedicated to the editor of the dear old Courier. H. D. HOLLIDAY

Adult School Closed

A nine months term of an adult school with Mrs. Pearl Wheeler as teacher closed at Liberty Road a few weeks ago. This school was conducted under federal auspices and was primarily for persons who, for one reason or another, had been denied the privileges of school training in their earlier years. Mrs. P. S. Wells is making an extended visit with relatives in Ashland.

REXVILLE

June 3—Several persons from here attended church Sunday, May 26, at Grassy Lick. Mrs. Florence Ferguson had as Thursday dinner guests Mrs. Fera Lewis and son Edward Wells, of Indev, Arthur Wells of Wells Hill, and Amos Adams. Mr. and Mrs. Chetis Stael and children Emma, Homer, and Ruth visited over the week end Mr. Stael's sisters, Mrs. Neri Haney and Mrs. Henry Engate, and families, of Stacy Fork. Rev. John L. Ferguson of Long Branch, is paying his son, Harlan Ferguson, here, an extended visit. Mort Mank of Pomeroy was the Saturday dinner guest of his sister, Mrs. Elva Fox Ferguson. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson had as their Saturday night guests Mori Mank of Pomeroy and Mr. and Mrs. George Sizemore of Pike county. Misses Wilma and Lillian Engate, of near West Liberty, were visiting their uncle, Crawford Engate, and family, the last of the week. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Havens had as their Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. George Sizemore of Pike county, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Evans and children, of Ezel, Oliver Carter of Padukirk, and Mrs. Amos Adams and children, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson. Mrs. Mary Ferguson was the Sunday afternoon guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson of Grassy Creek. Mr. and Mrs. Densil Short were the Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Short. Johnnie Havens of Liberty Road visited last week his aunt, Mrs. Amos Adams. Carl Havens' children, of Liberty Road, spent part of last week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Havens. Brine Conley was at Mt. Sterling on Wednesday. Miss Anna Byrd of Detroit, Mich., who spent her annual vacation with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. John Byrd, and other relatives here, returned to her job Thursday.

REXVILLE MEETING

Rev. John R. Gilpin of Russell will open a revival meeting at the Baptist church in West Liberty on Monday night, June 17. Christians of all denominations may profit from this meeting by faithful attendance. A Daily Vacation Bible School for all children of school age will be held next month, July 8 to 20. ROSCO BRONG, pastor

GREER

June 3—Several persons from here attended church Sunday, May 26, at Grassy Lick. Mrs. Florence Ferguson had as Thursday dinner guests Mrs. Fera Lewis and son Edward Wells, of Indev, Arthur Wells of Wells Hill, and Amos Adams. Mr. and Mrs. Chetis Stael and children Emma, Homer, and Ruth visited over the week end Mr. Stael's sisters, Mrs. Neri Haney and Mrs. Henry Engate, and families, of Stacy Fork. Rev. John L. Ferguson of Long Branch, is paying his son, Harlan Ferguson, here, an extended visit. Mort Mank of Pomeroy was the Saturday dinner guest of his sister, Mrs. Elva Fox Ferguson. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson had as their Saturday night guests Mori Mank of Pomeroy and Mr. and Mrs. George Sizemore of Pike county. Misses Wilma and Lillian Engate, of near West Liberty, were visiting their uncle, Crawford Engate, and family, the last of the week. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Havens had as their Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. George Sizemore of Pike county, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Evans and children, of Ezel, Oliver Carter of Padukirk, and Mrs. Amos Adams and children, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson. Mrs. Mary Ferguson was the Sunday afternoon guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson of Grassy Creek. Mr. and Mrs. Densil Short were the Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Short. Johnnie Havens of Liberty Road visited last week his aunt, Mrs. Amos Adams. Carl Havens' children, of Liberty Road, spent part of last week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Havens. Brine Conley was at Mt. Sterling on Wednesday. Miss Anna Byrd of Detroit, Mich., who spent her annual vacation with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. John Byrd, and other relatives here, returned to her job Thursday.

Better Breakfasts

Fruits for breakfast are part of the start of a fine day. They make you feel fine, even if the weather isn't. The following breakfast contains so many kinds of fruits that it ought to make you feel extra fine. It will make sunshine inside of you whether the weather is cloudy or not. Here it is:

Fruit Appetizer
Cereal with Cream
Gooseberry Jam
Coffee

And here's the recipe for the dish which contains several kinds of fruits in addition to the gooseberries in the gooseberry jam:

Fruit Appetizer: Combine three-fourths cup pineapple tidbits or sliced pineapple cut in wedges, three-fourths cup white grapes, halved and seeded (either fresh or canned), one-fourth cup syrup from the canned pineapple and one cup orange juice. Chill over night, and serve in glass dessert dishes. Serves six.

Fine Coffee

But even this breakfast will be a failure if the coffee you serve is not fresh. Fortunately it is easy nowadays to be sure of the important fact that your coffee is fresh. All you have to do is to make a practice of buying one of the many brands of coffee that are sold in vacuum packed cans. Oxygen is the enemy of freshly ground coffee, and these vacuum packed cans absolutely exclude all oxygen, so that the coffee is sure to be fresh when you open them.

If you use vacuum packed coffee and plenty of fruit in all the breakfasts you serve you'll find that it makes a great difference. Ask your own doctor about it and he'll tell you that these two elements in every breakfast will go far toward keeping you in good health.

STRIPPINGS

we wuz separatin the milk las nite an I wuz turnin the separator az usual when paw beghn krabbin bekwine he wuz in a rush tew aft tew luge meetin. wunts the matter hank—ozz—kaint yew speed her up sun? dont yew no we're late? put on sun steam. of yew dont lik the way in turnin this here separator yew kin dew it yerself—sezz—I wuz plittin hot under the collar enyway an I wuz separatin like I althuz do. paw grabbed the knuff an beghn whizzin it faster an faster purty soon maw kin bustin in. wunt yew tryin tew do sez maw. ture the mashien tew pass? sez hank the separator an yew klier owt —sez she—hanks the on yew that kin run the separator, an old paw dy owttu thar. my korse thet wuz azzackly what paw wanted an maw got her way tew. az nuzant I wuz the gote but I didnt mind so much when I herd the mashien owt paw got when he kin in las nite. HANK

SEEN and HEARD around the National Capital

By CARTER FIELD

Washington—The question of new taxes, often hinted, though never given much official notice, is right on top of the hoop again as a result of the bonus situation.

Every one in the inside in Washington, providing the vision was not distorted by what he wanted, instead of what good reason would demonstrate, has known for some time that some form of bonus legislation would pass and that its passage, unless the whole Roosevelt formula was to be set aside, would necessitate additional taxes.

In the President's mind, the bonus is an all-fair with the cotton processing tax.

"Where would the money come from?" is the question of New England and southern demands for repeal of the cotton tax applies equally to the drain on the treasury that a bonus compromise would make.

The only change in the situation is that the probability now is the compromise will result in taking several hundred million dollars more out of the treasury than had been figured up to a few weeks ago. For example, it has been known for some time that, despite the President's views about the bonus, he would be glad to compromise for something like $1,200,000,000.

But the prospect today is that it will take at least $1,500,000,000 to turn the trick.

It is almost the President's part to powerful force in the hands of the bonus advocates in insisting on a larger amount when he dismissed that idea of $750 million in a government bond amounting to $750 million. If he had paid the legal bank rate of interest of 6 per cent, in calculating the "present value" of the bonus certificates he would have said $800 million, a not a loss.

Low Interest Rates

It is one first thing that the low interest rates the government has been giving haven't been able to bring about have worked against the treasury instead of for it. Over a stretch of ten years a difference of 1 per cent in interest makes a great deal of difference. Especially if the interest is compounded, as it is in the illustration the President used. The sixth grade arithmetic used to tell us that money at 5 per cent doubles itself in 12 years, compounded.

It is not definitely known just what the administration will recommend in the way of new taxes. Congress leans heavily to heavy inheritance taxes. This fits in with the Roosevelt policy of whittling away at inherited fortunes. It is in line with heavy income taxes, reduced interest on investments, smaller profits for business, etc.

In fact it is almost a necessary part of New Deal philosophy. For granted that the Roosevelt program for small profits, etc., would work the whole tendency would be to freeze existing conditions, preventing any new fortunes from being created, but by the safety thrown around existing enterprises, tending also to preserve existing fortunes. Assuming they were big enough to stand losses in certain directions—utility earnings, for example.

So it appears likely that heavier inheritance taxes will be one of the surest factors in the new tax program.

Under consideration also, though with no formal blessing as yet from the White House, is the proposed tax on life insurance premiums. This would be 1 per cent, but would be paid by the companies direct. Policy holders of course would really pay it, for their dividends and policy reductions would naturally be less. There is plenty of political dynamite in this one.

Even more protests would be caused by another tax under consideration by the treasury experts. This would reduce the present exemption of 40 cent on movie admissions to 10 cents!

Real "Drive" Possible

If three thousand farmers just happen to decide to pay a visit to Washington, enjoy the sights, tell congress to pass the Agricultural Adjustment administration amendments, and listen to a speech by the President, with no organization to stir them up, no one to pay their expenses—the whole thing just out of a blue sky, so to speak—what may happen when there is really a "drive"?

Washington may see the answer. For sooner or later there is going to be a serious move to reduce, or maybe eliminate, these benefit payments. Already there is a strong conviction—and those who hold it are getting reinforcements all the time—that the whole system of benefits is wrong. Wrong in that in the long run it is not a good thing for the farmers themselves.

Then there is another large group who want to curtail or eliminate the benefits for an entirely different reason. This group does not think the treasury can stand the strain indefinitely. Or, to put it another way, that the taxpayers (for the benefits are paid out of processing taxes) cannot stand the strain.

Put the two groups together and you have a pretty fair nucleus. It would not take much organizing, say next year, to have a majority in congress for curtailment if not elimination.

Then there would be a real march on Washington by the embittered farmers.

Those who have considered the whole problem say that it is very unlikely prior to election. They say the President would never dare to attempt to put off the farmers' payments until the re-election is safely achieved.

That, naturally, is just opinion. It is the ordinary mental process of a politician—one who knows that Franklin D. Roosevelt is also a politician, and who cannot conceive his doing anything so unpollitic as kicking a lot of perfectly good voters in the face just on the eve of their going to the polls.

Doubtful Logic

They may be right and they may be wrong. But it was the same sort of logic that led many allegedly astute politicians to assume that the President would not veto the bonus bill, including Huey Long, including Father Coughlin, including many others. So that maybe this logic cannot be taken at its full face value.

It might be said that the two things are very different. That vetoing a bonus bill never yet has hurt a President. It certainly did not hurt Coolidge. There is grave doubt that it hurt Hoover, although difficult to prove. Most veterans who happen also to be politicians will tell you privately that Hoover was hurt a great deal more by his handling of the bonus marchers than by his veto of the bonus bill.

But the present situation presents the sort of thing that has seldom been tested. It is not a case of refusing to try a scheme about which there is violent difference of opinion, such as the equalization fee idea of the McNary-Haugen bill. It is a case of cutting off money payments, which were already being received by a large class. And that might be different!

Different Story

Lots of water has flowed downstream since the good old days when both house and senate rushed through the administration's security and stock exchange regulation bill. That measure, drafted by two of Felix Frankfurter's boys, Cohen and Landis, was put through in the early days—when President Roosevelt's wishes did not have to be expressed by the king himself to become law. The word of any of his ministers, or his lieutenants was enough. And everybody knew that Frankfurter's boys were close to the throne.

But what a different story now! Which does not mean the bonus—that always was outside the ordinary orbit of administration program material. Nor the World Court. Nor the St. Lawrence sawney if and when it comes up.

No, the difference shows up on just the ordinary ran of the mine, so to speak, legislation. And the answer is two fold.

First, the legislators on Capitol Hill, have discovered that the king's ministers may be very powerful for a time, but their time is apt to be short. Douglas is gone—lives in outer darkness. Not forgotten—far from it—but just out of the picture. Hugh Johnson is out, still praising the "Chief," but kicking the shins of the king's ministers vigorously. Though of course loyalty always had him to the king, not the king's ministers. The most loyal subject could always deplore the folly of the king's advisers. That has been true since the dawn of history. It is not a development of the Roosevelt administration.

Now the most powerful minister in Washington is not very frightening to the had boys on Capitol Hill if they think he is apt to be out of the picture say six months hence. Tim's the way politics is. There is no use trying to please anybody who won't be around to return the favor later on. Especially if pleasing this person in temporary authority means irritating folks back home who just may remember it on election day. The most imposing figure house impressiveness if the pedestal is noticed to be wobbly. And the national legislators have come to the conclusion that there is not a single firm foundation under a single one of Roosevelt's present advisers.

May Still Be Around

This is probably a very jaundiced view—on their part. It may be that lots of them will be around, and powerful, a year hence. But the fact that so many have slipped prevents any one of them from speaking with the old note of authority, so far as Capitol Hill is concerned.

Congress abolished its lame ducks. After a senator or member of the house is defeated he no longer can either vote or debate. But there is a certain lame duck suspicion attached to all the brain trusters.

Then there is another reason. In the early days of the Roosevelt administration the jobs done in drafting legislation were very workmanlike indeed. As, for example, the aforementioned Cohen and Landis securities and stock exchange regulation bill. Whether one approved the ideas behind the measure or not, there was no discounting the skill with which the precise intent of the framers was spread on the statute books.

But that day has passed. For example, take the social security measure—old age pensions and unemployment insurance—sent to Capitol Hill by Secretary Perkins. If there was anything right about it in its first form, it was a surprise. It was supposed to come up with the full White House blessing. But it was soon discovered that the figures did not add up. The calculations were weird. The astronomical figures were juggled until no two persons could agree within three or four million dollars as of a day certain in the future.

Now this was never formally admitted. But the word got round. And there has been a shaking loss of confidence in the divine origin of administration measures ever since.

Copyright—WNU Service.

"QUOTES"

COMMENTS ON CURRENT TOPICS BY NATIONAL CHARACTERS

GERMANY AND PEACE

By RAMSAY MACDONALD
Prime Minister of Great Britain

GERMANY has acted in such a way as to destroy the feeling of mutual confidence in Europe. It has broken up the road to peace and beset it with terrors. It claims a measure of armed power which puts most of the nations of Europe at its mercy.

Every reflecting, reasonable German must see the force of the point I am making. He must know in his heart that Berlin is not enough, that in fact it has upset very much more than it has pacified Germany is aiming, it alleges, to satisfy honor and self-respect, and makes the further allegation that the scale of its armaments is only enough to make itself secure.

Leaving the honor argument out of account for the moment, how can I profess to be blind to the effect which its colossal armaments must have on the sense of security of other nations? "You must trust me," it replies. "I assure you I have no designs upon you."

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

By FREDERICK E. WILLIAMSON
President New York Central System

POLITICS lives on jobs, as you all know. It is obvious that under a government which is based on the political party system, the railroads under government ownership would be administered primarily for the need of that system. Under government ownership the job of every one of the million railroad employees sooner or later would become a political prize, with merit and experience taking a back seat.

Moreover, it is reasonable to assume that the source of the railroads' supply of materials would not long remain privately owned. And, since railroads buy, for example, 22 per cent of all the coal that is mined, 16 per cent of all the steel and 11 per cent of all the lumber manufactured, this providing much of the backing of these basic industries, how long do you suppose it would be before these, too, would come under the control of the federal bureaucracy?

FUTURE NRA POLICY

By DONALD R. KICHBERG
Director National Emergency Council

MANY of those who in recent months helped to raise the Blue Eagle now feel that we might have moved more rapidly toward a clearer understanding of our purpose had we chosen not an emblem of force but a symbol of peace and co-operation to dignify adherence to a code of fair competition.

Yet, how can we go forward without exerting force against those who will always obstruct progress for narrow, selfish aims, who will never play the same fair unless the rules are enforced against them? Somehow those dissenting groups, whether moved by prejudice or evil purpose, must be prevented from destroying the virtuous effort of a majority to make a success of self-government.

CONTINUING NRA

By JOSEPH ROBINSON
U. S. Senator From Arkansas

THE contributions of the program for industrial recovery have been spread over the entire range of industry and commerce. Even those witnesses before the senate committee on finance, who opposed extension of the law admitted that, under the codes, their industries have changed from unprofitable in general to profitable.

Amendments to the act have been worked out and proposed in the light of experience. To abandon the NRA under present conditions would invite the return of the evils from which industry was suffering when the statute was passed.

THE REPUBLICAN JOB

By ARTHUR CAPPER
U. S. Senator From Kansas

ITS job is to determine how much individualism we can retain, how many parts of our national economy must be owned in common or controlled in common.

In other words, we have got to make a new definition of public utilities and draw a line between the public utility and the private business. That line should be drawn in the public interest, of course.

We must work to retain a democratic system of government under the Constitution that will make government, finance, industry and business serve the people. The welfare of the people is the end.

FUTURE LIBERTY

By DR. FRANCIS CARTER WOOD
Noted Pathologist

IF TAXES are to continue high for another generation or two, those who care most for money will move to countries where there are simpler living and take our liberty as an intellectual freedom rather than a physical one.

Says WILL ROGERS

BEVERLY HILLS.—Well, I'll tell you what I read in the papers or what I see here and there. Couple of weeks ago we were up on the Sacramento River making a movie. We had a fine time. They are great folks up around there. Well they are nice folks everywhere. Their legislature was in session, and they had just stayed their 100 days, that all they are paid for, and it was pretty tough on the old boys at that, to stay there and not get paid, so from then all they got was cursing. Before they got paid and cursing combined, but they eliminated the pay.

Well, sir I had a happy experience, I knew he was up there somewhere, I didn't know just where, as I hear from him every little while, but I hadn't seen him in years, that was Buck McKee. Buck McKee was the cowboy that used to work with me in a vaudeville act and rode the horse, or little cowboy rather, Teddy. He trained in the pony for the stage. He wasn't any trick pony, he just worked on a smooth board stage, with felt bottom boots buckled on his feet like goloshes, and run for my fancy roping catches. But luck trained him to do on a slick stage just about what a good turning cowpoy can do on the ground.

We started the act in the spring of 1905, just exactly 30 years to a week from when I met Buck up in Sacramento. He was with me for I think it was four or five years. We made two trips to Europe together. We went over just one year after I had opened on the stage. That was in the spring of 1906. We went to the Winter Garden Theatre in Berlin, that was the Premier Vaudeville Theatre of all Europe. We played there a month. The act was quite a novelty, as it was the first one to ever use a running horse to be in a show on the stage. Buck was, (and is) a great fellow, very efficient, and can do almost anything and the best thing is that everybody liked him. I never met an old time actor that we used to play with in vaudeville that don't ask about, "Where is that fellow Buck McKee that was with you so long that used to ride Teddy?"

Well he is at Roseville, Cal., a beautiful little town about 20 miles out of Sacramento toward Reno, Nev. He still is handling horses, the thing he does best in the world. He runs a riding academy about two miles out of town in the "Whipple Ranch," has been there 12 years. Everybody knows and likes him as usual. His wife Maude is with him. She was a dancer in a vaudeville act that we played on the bill with. They fell in love and were married, and she has developed into a splendid horsewoman, and they are excellent teachers and they have learned many young and old people both to ride, and ride correctly, and above all they are so good to their horses, lots of patience, and real love for a horse. He was breaking in some lovely young horses, making galloped horses out of them. He has a fine thoroughbred stallion, and is raising a few young ones himself. It was good to see him.

We came back from Berlin in London and played the Palace Theatre there, then we went back to London in 1908. We played in that very Sacramento in the hot summer of 1907 on what was called the Sullivan and Considine Circuit. J. C. Nugent the splendid actor and playwright, with all his talented family was on the bill and Billy Hanlon was our hang out. He is now the proprietor of the big and fine Senator Hotel in Sacramento. We just stood and looked at each other that day. Buck and I. Here thirty years ago we had stepped on the stage together, only he was on horse back. He always said, "I can get away if anything happens, but the audience can't get you." Those were great old days, that darn it any old days are great old days. Even the tough ones, after they are over, you can look back on with great memories.

I was married too in 1908. And sometimes the salary wasn't any too big to ship Buck and his wife and Teddy, and my wife and self, in the next town. In fact I think Buck rode some of the short jumps. It was great fun, not a worry I regret the loss of vaudeville more than any part of it. It was the greatest form of entertainment ever conceived. Nothing in the world ever gave the satisfaction of a good vaudeville show. We was mighty proud to be playing in it. It had class in those days. Buck looks fine, no older, and of course I am just practically a babe in arms yet. But I just know lots of old friends and old timers would want to know about Buck. Roseville, Cal., will catch him. Speaking of catching him, I bet he has been roped, (and mislead too) more times than any man in the world. He did look great when he came charging in on that stage with that beautiful little brown pony. Well old timers talk too much so I must shut up.

© 1935 McClure Newspaper Inc.

Well, sir I had a happy experience, I knew he was up there somewhere, I didn't know just where, as I hear from him every little while, but I hadn't seen him in years, that was Buck McKee. Buck McKee was the cowboy that used to work with me in a vaudeville act and rode the horse, or little cowboy rather, Teddy. He trained in the pony for the stage. He wasn't any trick pony, he just worked on a smooth board stage, with felt bottom boots buckled on his feet like goloshes, and run for my fancy roping catches. But luck trained him to do on a slick stage just about what a good turning cowpoy can do on the ground.

We came back from Berlin in London and played the Palace Theatre there, then we went back to London in 1908. We played in that very Sacramento in the hot summer of 1907 on what was called the Sullivan and Considine Circuit. J. C. Nugent the splendid actor and playwright, with all his talented family was on the bill and Billy Hanlon was our hang out. He is now the proprietor of the big and fine Senator Hotel in Sacramento. We just stood and looked at each other that day. Buck and I. Here thirty years ago we had stepped on the stage together, only he was on horse back. He always said, "I can get away if anything happens, but the audience can't get you." Those were great old days, that darn it any old days are great old days. Even the tough ones, after they are over, you can look back on with great memories.

I was married too in 1908. And sometimes the salary wasn't any too big to ship Buck and his wife and Teddy, and my wife and self, in the next town. In fact I think Buck rode some of the short jumps. It was great fun, not a worry I regret the loss of vaudeville more than any part of it. It was the greatest form of entertainment ever conceived. Nothing in the world ever gave the satisfaction of a good vaudeville show. We was mighty proud to be playing in it. It had class in those days. Buck looks fine, no older, and of course I am just practically a babe in arms yet. But I just know lots of old friends and old timers would want to know about Buck. Roseville, Cal., will catch him. Speaking of catching him, I bet he has been roped, (and mislead too) more times than any man in the world. He did look great when he came charging in on that stage with that beautiful little brown pony. Well old timers talk too much so I must shut up.

We came back from Berlin in London and played the Palace Theatre there, then we went back to London in 1908. We played in that very Sacramento in the hot summer of 1907 on what was called the Sullivan and Considine Circuit. J. C. Nugent the splendid actor and playwright, with all his talented family was on the bill and Billy Hanlon was our hang out. He is now the proprietor of the big and fine Senator Hotel in Sacramento. We just stood and looked at each other that day. Buck and I. Here thirty years ago we had stepped on the stage together, only he was on horse back. He always said, "I can get away if anything happens, but the audience can't get you." Those were great old days, that darn it any old days are great old days. Even the tough ones, after they are over, you can look back on with great memories.

I was married too in 1908. And sometimes the salary wasn't any too big to ship Buck and his wife and Teddy, and my wife and self, in the next town. In fact I think Buck rode some of the short jumps. It was great fun, not a worry I regret the loss of vaudeville more than any part of it. It was the greatest form of entertainment ever conceived. Nothing in the world ever gave the satisfaction of a good vaudeville show. We was mighty proud to be playing in it. It had class in those days. Buck looks fine, no older, and of course I am just practically a babe in arms yet. But I just know lots of old friends and old timers would want to know about Buck. Roseville, Cal., will catch him. Speaking of catching him, I bet he has been roped, (and mislead too) more times than any man in the world. He did look great when he came charging in on that stage with that beautiful little brown pony. Well old timers talk too much so I must shut up.

© 1935 McClure Newspaper Inc.

Let Our Motto Be GOOD HEALTH

BY DR. LLOYD ARNOLD
Professor of Bacteriology and Preventive Medicine, University of Illinois, College of Medicine.

THE THIN MAN AND THE STOCKY MAN

Have you ever stopped to think how very little you notice about your own body when you are feeling well? Beyond brushing your gums, do you ever pay much attention to your mouth when your teeth aren't aching? Do you ever consider how your stomach is acting when it isn't upset over something or you aren't hungry?

It isn't only the layman, but the medical profession as a whole has never paid any real attention to our bodies when they are well. There have been libraries and libraries written on disease, but the books written on what is normal health are virtually non-existent.

The whole effort has been to study disease and then to cure it. It has been a good way and has accomplished a very great deal.

It has in fact increased the span of our life expectancy so that it now stands at approximately sixty years. But now that we are reaching this ripe age, a number of the medical profession are saying: "Instead of waiting for a disease to manifest itself, let's see if we can't prevent it. Let's see if we can't keep people so healthy that they won't ever be laid up with long spells of sickness. We have cut down enormously the death rate from such contagious diseases as diphtheria, smallpox, rabies and measles. We have made progress with diabetes and pernicious anemia. Now let's see if we can't prevent the degenerative diseases that break down the proper functioning of the organs of the body, or at least keep them flaring up until a person is well along in years."

Obviously the first step in this objective is to make a study of normally healthy individuals so that we can learn how a healthy body reacts to certain stimuli. In the hospital connected with the University of Illinois Medical School, we had recently for a continuous period of 450 days two men, one thin and the other stocky. They were both healthy and twenty-five years of age.

We made many tests. We drew blood from each every other day, and sometimes twice daily. Stomach analysis was done at frequent intervals. All urine specimens were saved and analyzed. Basal metabolism was done daily. Ten different skin tests were made twice each week.

The stocky, lanky type proved a stable sort of fellow. He did not vary from day to day. When put into a hot room or into a cold room he was not uncomfortable. He showed little if any metabolic change as a result of these climatic environments. His urine was acid in reaction. He seemed to have little use for the alkalines in his food. We gave him certain foods to determine just how stable he could maintain his equilibrium of chemical reactions. He can be summed up as a vegetable organism. He was a digestive creature. He gained 20 pounds. He never did any type of work but stayed in bed all the time. To eat and sleep were his major functions in life. He would read little beyond the daily paper and he napped between turning the pages. He was happy and contented.

The tall man showed great variations in his body functions from day to day. His metabolism was unstable. His urine was always alkaline. He was uncomfortable in the hot room; he was excitable and uneasy; his temperature went up. His stomach stopped secreting acid and his urine became concentrated. He lost weight the day following and did not get back to normal weight for ten days. His whole water metabolism was upset. On the other hand, he tarred very well in the cold room. Changes in diet produced considerable changes in his metabolism. He was a skin and nervous organism, and he was completely different from the stocky man. He was always up and about and looking for something to do. He never slept during the day. He washed glassware, helped in the laboratory, and became a real laboratory assistant in the year and a half he was under observation.

Then we made a study of a hay fever, migraine headache and hive group of patients, normal in other respects. These we found belong to the unstable types.

Their various reactions charted upon paper look like a profile of the Rocky mountains. They change more during the course of a day than the stable type change after having been given the same stimulating medicine. They are put together in a different manner and react differently to things around them. They show more changes in their blood chemistry from day to day than one would expect to find in sick people. But they are normal, that is, in so far as their fluctuating, vacillating and spasmodic type of controlling machinery will allow them to be normal.

We began these studies to gain a better understanding of normal people. Much to our surprise we found the normal range of variations to be much wider than we had previously supposed. We have still much to learn.

© Western Newspaper Union.

Slenderizing Lines Characterize Frocks

PATTERN 9321

9321

Quite the neatest trick we've observed for a long time is this cleverly arranged, yet delightfully simple, house frock. Especially nice for those of us who gain and lose weight or who just naturally love a smart looking wrap-around for sheer comfort and convenience. And, of course, a boon to expectant mothers. Note how the belt slips through a slit and may be simply adjusted to fit the figure. Meanwhile, one has stepped right into it as into a coat. No petticoat needed. Nice shoulders and back, aren't they? Most attractive in solid color cotton broadcloth or printed or plaid cotton of any sort. Pattern 9321 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

SEND FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE. Address your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West 15th Street, New York, N. Y.

Smiles

FULLY RECOVERED

First Nurse—Has he come to his senses yet?
Second Nurse—Yes, he's quite rational now. Just asked me to clope with him.

Cold Underfoot
"I got cold feet dancing with Mabel last night."
"How?"
"Whenever she stepped on my foot my toes were five below."

Compromise
"My doctor said I must not smoke meals."
"So you gave up smoking?"
"No, gave up meals."

Experienced
He—Darling, you don't know how I love you.
She—Oh, yes I do! I've had lots of 'em this way.

Or Something
"I grew taller after I joined the medical corps." "You must have slept on a stretcher."

WNU—E 23—35

Thousands of conscientious mothers are trying the regular price for this helpful advice. You can have a trial subscription for just half—three months for $1. Send stamps, or coin protected with cardboard. We will use the coupon below.

The Parents' Magazine
114 E. 32nd St., New York

Inclosed find 25 cents to pay for a 3 months' trial subscription for THE PARENTS' MAGAZINE at one-half the regular price.

In doubt, don't do it.
You can't buy confidence.
Late turns beauty sour.
Every religion teaches prayer.
Faith begins where reason ends.
It is much less trouble to tell the truth.
More beautiful than a diamond is a drop.
Some people think Americans should be made to fit the Constitution.

WEST LIBERTY, KENTUCKY

Guaranteed
USED CARS
with an OK that counts

See our fine stock of guaranteed OK used cars—today! Not only will you get a better used car value but you will also get a better deal on your old car in trade.

SEE US FOR Guaranteed
USED CARS
with an OK that counts

Machine Gunners Fire at a Painted Landscape

MACHINE-GUN practice with all the advantages of open terrain and landscape targets is being accomplished at the Fort Wayne army post, Detroit, Mich., by using painted landscapes in a limited area. The range used is 1,000 inches, which corresponds exactly to the 1,000-yard range of open country. The gun crews fix their sights and range the same as they would on a 1,000 yard range, and fire at landscape objects in the upper black and white panel. The lower colored duplicate scenes are to enable gunners to pick out their targets more readily.

Bedtime Story for Children

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

NANNY MEADOW MOUSE IS WORRIED

NANNY MEADOW MOUSE was worried. Yes, sir, Nanny Meadow Mouse was worried. Nanny is a home body. In the first place, most of the time she has a family to think about and care for. There are babies in Nanny's snug little home nest at the time. What with helpless babies and longstrong, half-grown children eager to get out in the Great World and show how smart they are, and fully grown children already setting will risk her own life for her babies' sake. The most precious thing anybody possesses is life. To risk this for something which at best is nothing more than pleasure is the most foolish thing in the world. Nanny and how necessary it is that a young Meadow Mouse who would like to a good old age be carefully trained.

One of the first things to be learned is the foolishness of taking unnecessary chances of their own. Nanny has real cause for worry. You see, no one knows better than she what a lot of dangers surround a Meadow Mouse any time, but she is far too wise to risk it for any other reason.

"If you lost your life you've lost everything," is a favorite saying of Nanny's, and when you come to think of it, it is exactly so. Sometimes Nanny Meadow Mouse laughs at her and tells her that the older she grows the more timid she becomes. That doesn't trouble Nanny at all. She simply smiles and says nothing. She knows it is true, but she also knows that this added timidity is because of increased knowledge of the dangers of the Great World, and that the more timid she is the less likely she is to fool herself. "A Meadow Mouse cannot be too timid," says Nanny, and in that she is more than half right.

Danny Meadow Mouse is different. He doesn't have the care of those babies all the time on his mind as does Nanny. So he has more time to think about himself and the things he wants to do. Then, too, the sharp little wits in that funny little head of his have brought him through so many tight places that he has come to think himself quite as smart as anybody else and quite able to take care of himself no matter what happens, which shows that he isn't as wise as Nanny, though I wouldn't do to tell him so.

The day that Danny took it into his head to visit the Sniling Pool had been a very trying one for Nanny. Danny hadn't told her where he was going or that he expected to be gone long. The half-grown children had "Believe it or not," says stepping Stella, "the fastest drivers are found in the parked cars."

© Ben Syndicate—WNU Service.

QUESTION BOX

by ED WYNN, The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a woman forty-three years of age and have never been married. A widower about my own age is madly in love with me and wants to marry me. I love him all right, but he says he is a member of twelve lodges. What I want to know is this: Is it wise to marry a man who belongs to as many as twelve lodges?

Sincerely,
MAY SODNICK.

Answer: There is no harm in it as long as you will be satisfied with him staying away from home twelve nights a week.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

What does it mean when you see a lot of letters after a doctor's name?

Sincerely,
MURRAY SON.

Answer: That simply means he got to where he is by "degrees."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Do you think it is really true that women make fools of men?

Yours truly,
IKE ANTHEE LEEVIT.

Answer: Some times they do, but some times it isn't necessary.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I met a fellow the other day and have since found out that he is an awful liar and is not thought very much of in our community. I am placed in a very embarrassing position. He has asked me to lend him $50, and when I asked him when he would pay me back he said: "I will pay you back in two weeks, on the word of a gentleman." What shall I do?

Truly yours,
IONA TRUCK.

Answer: Tell him you'll lend him the money if he'll bring the gentleman around.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

During a conversation, at a bridge been very trying that day, for they had persisted in taking foolish risks whenever Nanny's back was turned. They kept her worried. They kept her so worried that she didn't have time to think of Danny. But when the Black Shadows began to creep out over the Green Meadows and Danny had not returned, it popped into her head that something dreadful must have happened to him. She began to worry. The later it grew the more she worried.

© T. W. Burgess—WNU Service.

AN OLD COUPLE

By ANNE CAMPBELL

TWO with hair as white as snow
Closely sit together.
In their hearts the banks glow.
Bitter is the weather;
But the joy of summer days
Still is mirrored in their gaze.

As two trees that through long years
Toward each other bending,
Nourished both by smiles and tears,
Saw the sun descending,
So do these two, wondering,
Face the end, and closer cling.

Long the journey from the day
They joined hands, light-hearted.
Hard sometimes, the winding way
Since the journey started,
But it's been a worth-while pull!
Sharing made it beautiful!

Copyright—WNU Service.

Weather Affects Human Efficiency
Studies of the effect of atmospheric conditions on human efficiency show that the majority of us work faster in the spring and autumn than in the winter and that we accomplish more work than usual immediately after a change in weather, not only on a clear day following a stormy period but also during a storm following several days of sunshine.—Collier's Weekly.

Mother's Cook Book

ENTREE OR MADE DISH

THOSE who plan meals are often confronted by the problem of what to serve to add variety, "pep," or to fill a vacant place in the menu. Something is needed that is different, tasty, while at the same time it fits in with the other dishes which compose the meal.

In bridge, when in doubt, lead trumps—in food planning, when in doubt, add a dish which appeals. The following are a few which may be useful; they may be varied by using different fruits or vegetables.

Orange Fritters.

Take one and one-fourth cups of pastry flour, two tablespoons of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, mix well and add four tablespoons of evaporated milk and seven tablespoons of water, one beaten egg—beat until smooth, or about two minutes. Take two seedless oranges, remove all fiber and dip each section into the batter. Have deep fat hot enough to fry a cube of bread a golden color in a minute, then drop in the fritters a few at a time; cook for five minutes, drain, sprinkle with sugar and serve.

Lobster Croquettes.

Take two cups of chopped cooked lobster, mix one-fourth of a teaspoon of salt, the same of mustard, a dash of cayenne and add to the lobster. Prepare a white sauce, using two tablespoons of butter, three of flour, one-half teaspoon of salt and a cup of milk. Add the cooked white sauce to the lobster, mold into balls when well chilled and fry in deep fat, using a hotter fat than the above. Forty seconds for the browning of the bread is the right amount. Serve with tatar sauce.

Mushrooms on Toast.

Cook mushrooms in butter for five minutes, add cream and seasoning and pour over well buttered toast. Serve at once.

© Western Newspaper Union.

Tunic Frock

For a hot day at the office this short sleeved tunic frock is very chic. When the tassel-patterned navy and white tunic coat is removed, it shows a one-piece dress of crossbarred white crepe.

Lobster Traps

Lobster traps are usually 3 or 4 feet long and capable of containing a number of lobsters. They are set in water ranging from 5 to 20 fathoms or even more, and are visited every two or three days. If the weather permits, from the traps the lobsters are taken to floating cages, called cribs, where they are kept until enough are gathered to warrant a shipment.

More Than a Hundred but Going Strong

MRS. ANNA HOKANSON, now well along the second century of her life at one hundred and four, keeps in trim by doing the milking on the farm near Puyallup, Wash., where she makes her home. The centenarian credits her long existence to the healthful farm life she leads.

Harp's Wasps Elected in Fight Against Pests

Last summer a large contingent of the wasps and larvae was sent to Canada by airplane from the village of Eszak, Hungary, writes the India post correspondent of the London Sunday Observer.

"The Nemzeti Ujsaz" gives an account of a golden harvest in the village. In August the unprecedented plague of wasps, which descended in clouds on the fruit trees, threatened to deprive the village of its harvest. The local authorities were appealed to, but before any action could be taken a "Hone Englishman" appeared in the village and engaged 60 workmen to collect the wasps and certain insects in sacks at the fabulous payment of between £10 to £20 a week.

The gentleman, whose mysterious activities intrigued the village, was a professor from the London Zoological and Parasitological Institute, who had been commissioned by the Canadian government to find an insect which destroys the redoubtable tsetse fly. Professor Morris, who has made a study of this problem, found that the black long-winged wasp of the Hungarian plain destroys the tsetse fly with great speed, and informs the inhabitants of Eszak that their wasps have done fine work in ridding certain newly affected parts of Canada of cases of sleeping sickness.

Growing a Seaweed

The cultivation of rice grass on the low-lying lands of Essex and other similar mud flats in England may result in turning thousands of acres of waste land into profitable pasture. Spurred grass became known in Great Britain about 100 years ago through a few seeds dropping accidentally from some cargo ships at Southampton docks. They took root and formed a hybrid with British grass which attracted the attention of agricultural scientists who saw the possibility of "growing" their sea wall instead of spending thousands of pounds on sea defense to prevent the land being flooded. Experiments have proved that such a wall is not worn away by the tide.

Household Hint

Onions would have saved many a badly prepared dish. Ask the men.

CHILDREN Like Milnesia Wafers

Do YOU Know—

That the origin of "April Fool's Day" is unknown, but the custom has long prevailed in many countries. In Scotland the victim of the trick is called a "gowk" and in France "poisson 'Avril" or April Fish.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

DINNER

DEATHS and BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Loda were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. May. Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. May, of West Liberty, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. May. Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. May, of West Liberty, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. May.

GRASSY CREEK

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Loda were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. May. Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. May, of West Liberty, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. May. Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. May, of West Liberty, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. May.

JEFFERSON

June 3.—Mr. H. B. Murray of West Liberty was here Friday to see Elder L. C. Poffey. Mr. Poffey has had a lingering illness for a number of years and is now in a critical condition. Mrs. Ezra Williams of Shelbyville, Ohio, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Day, one day last week. Mrs. Missouri Sparks is visiting at home.

JEFFERSON

June 3.—Mr. H. B. Murray of West Liberty was here Friday to see Elder L. C. Poffey. Mr. Poffey has had a lingering illness for a number of years and is now in a critical condition. Mrs. Ezra Williams of Shelbyville, Ohio, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Day, one day last week. Mrs. Missouri Sparks is visiting at home.

JEFFERSON

June 3.—Mr. H. B. Murray of West Liberty was here Friday to see Elder L. C. Poffey. Mr. Poffey has had a lingering illness for a number of years and is now in a critical condition. Mrs. Ezra Williams of Shelbyville, Ohio, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Day, one day last week. Mrs. Missouri Sparks is visiting at home.

JEFFERSON

June 3.—Mr. H. B. Murray of West Liberty was here Friday to see Elder L. C. Poffey. Mr. Poffey has had a lingering illness for a number of years and is now in a critical condition. Mrs. Ezra Williams of Shelbyville, Ohio, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Day, one day last week. Mrs. Missouri Sparks is visiting at home.

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

RTY ROAD

Red Clover Crop to Make Comeback

Plant Breeders Developing New Possibilities for Improvement.

What was once the principal and almost the only legume crop in Kentucky, red clover is the crop. The plant breeders are developing new possibilities for improving it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out. It was once one of the greatest crops in the production of red clover, but plant breeders are now working to improve it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out. It was once one of the greatest crops in the production of red clover, but plant breeders are now working to improve it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out.

RED CLOVER

What was once the principal and almost the only legume crop in Kentucky, red clover is the crop. The plant breeders are developing new possibilities for improving it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out. It was once one of the greatest crops in the production of red clover, but plant breeders are now working to improve it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out.

RED CLOVER

What was once the principal and almost the only legume crop in Kentucky, red clover is the crop. The plant breeders are developing new possibilities for improving it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out. It was once one of the greatest crops in the production of red clover, but plant breeders are now working to improve it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out.

RED CLOVER

What was once the principal and almost the only legume crop in Kentucky, red clover is the crop. The plant breeders are developing new possibilities for improving it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out. It was once one of the greatest crops in the production of red clover, but plant breeders are now working to improve it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out.

RED CLOVER

What was once the principal and almost the only legume crop in Kentucky, red clover is the crop. The plant breeders are developing new possibilities for improving it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out. It was once one of the greatest crops in the production of red clover, but plant breeders are now working to improve it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out.

RED CLOVER

What was once the principal and almost the only legume crop in Kentucky, red clover is the crop. The plant breeders are developing new possibilities for improving it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out. It was once one of the greatest crops in the production of red clover, but plant breeders are now working to improve it so that it can withstand the hazards which have so often been killing it out.

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MODS

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN

MAYTOWN